Adios, America!

Ann Coulter lives up to her reputation of issuing warnings and political comment that nobody else dares to say in her newest book, "Adios, America!" It's aptly titled; she makes the case that it is Goodbye to the America we know and love if we don't stop diluting our population with people who don't love America, don't respect our Constitution and laws, don't even speak our language, and commit all sorts of unspeakable crimes.

"Adios, America!" brims with the scathing humor that has propelled Ann's previous ten books into bestsellers.

Ann Coulter gives hundreds of specific examples of major crimes committed by illegal immigrants and, in particular, crimes against very young women and girls. She shows the devious ways that the media conceal the fact that these horrendous crimes are committed by illegals whom our government should never have let into our country.

The media cover-up doesn't conceal merely the nationality of these criminals or the frequency of their crimes. The media cover-up also conceals the depravity of these crimes that are so horrific I can't bring myself to describe them in this column.

"Adios, America!" spells out chapter and verse on the attitudes and customs of foreigners whom Obama is welcoming by the millions into America, including their horrific mistreatment of very young women and even some younger than teens. Where are the feminists when we need them to shout about the "war on women"?

There are many devious ways that foreigners can get into the U.S. and then cash in on our generous welfare system. One route is the family unification policy, which qualifies for entry all varieties of alleged relatives, plus fake marriages by foreigners to U.S. citizens.

The racket called asylum allows a foreigner to claim without proof that he faces persecution in his home country, and then he can qualify for admission to the U.S. plus generous financial support by the U.S. taxpayers. The Tsarnaev family, whose sons bombed the Boston Marathon, were admitted after phony claims of persecution and then cashed in for $100,000 in U.S. handouts.

Ann Coulter exposes the giant deception covered by the trendy liberal goal of "diversity" which excused dumping 100,000 Somalis on Minnesota. We've allowed 30 million Mexicans to settle inside our country; that's one-quarter of Mexico's entire population of 120 million.

In 2011, the Government Accountability Office reported that the minimum estimate of criminal aliens in U.S. prisons and jails was 351,000, a figure that includes only a portion of the criminal aliens incarcerated in state and local facilities.

Ann asks a relevant question, "Why can't we adopt Israel's policy on immigration?" What do you think Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu would do if thousands of Israelis were being murdered by uninvited foreigners coming illegally into Israel?

If you guessed, "Give them in-state college tuition, driver's licenses, and free medical care," you would be laughed at. But that's what Obama gives to our illegal aliens.

Ann Coulter's book quotes scores of news reports describing the horrendous crimes committed by aliens against U.S. citizens, but somehow the news reports consistently fail to mention that the criminal was an alien. Here's a typical headline: "Man wanted for Raping Girl, 11, Robbing Her Family." The news story never used the word "immigrant" but described the criminal only as a "man," or "a 26-year-old man."

To illustrate the false slogan that "diversity is our strength," Ann tells what happened to A.G. Currie Middle School in Tustin, California, which flew 65 foreign flags to make it a "model multicultural school" because, as its principal said in 1992, "we are looking to build on our diversity as a strength." By 2009, the school had become 91% Hispanic. Ann's comment: "Nine percent more Mexicans, and it will have achieved perfect diversity."

When we're told we can't fence our southern border because "fences don't work" -- since people can always go over, under or around them -- Ann responds: that's like saying "wheels don't work" because you might have a flat tire. And, remember, the Great Wall of China is still doing its job after centuries.

A new Gallup poll reports that Americans are becoming more liberal on social issues. In fact, Americans are becoming more conservative on many social issues such as pro-life, so our candidates don’t have to take any more advice from those highly paid strategists who tell them to avoid mention of social issues.

Americans want our border closed to this flow of anti-American foreigners and criminals. Thank you, Ann Coulter for alerting Americans to how Obama and the Democrats are destroying the land we love.
